2. Behavioral Analysis

✔ Geographic stability centered in Columbus metro area with consistent Franklin County presence over 15+ years. Multiple overlapping addresses during 2022-2025 period suggest transitional housing arrangements or strategic address usage during probation supervision. Phone continuity maintained through six active wireless numbers, indicating sustained communication access. Frequent apartment/multi-family dwelling occupancy with rotating co-residents suggests rental lifestyle and possible shared housing arrangements. No current vehicle registrations despite historical ownership of four vehicles (2003-2014), indicating reliance on alternative transportation or unregistered vehicle use.

3. Psychological Profile

✖ Pattern of escalating criminal behavior from petty theft (2011) to drug-related homicide (2020) indicates poor impulse control and high-risk decision-making. Second-degree murder conviction for distributing controlled substances resulting in death demonstrates disregard for consequences of drug trafficking. Subsequent convictions while on probation for murder (2024 drug possession, fleeing police, 2025 weapon in courthouse) reveal inability to modify behavior despite severe legal consequences. Bankruptcy filing (2013) followed by eviction and civil judgments suggests chronic financial instability. Multiple aliases and address overlaps during probation period may indicate evasion tendencies. Continued criminal activity while under court supervision demonstrates defiance of authority and low rehabilitation potential.

Escalating criminal trajectory from petty theft (2011) to drug-related homicide (2020) demonstrates pattern of increasingly serious offenses. Murder conviction for distributing controlled substances resulting in death represents apex of criminal behavior. Post-conviction pattern shows continued criminality while on probation: major drug possession (20+ grams heroin/fentanyl), fleeing police, and bringing weapon into courthouse. Multiple theft convictions, motor vehicle theft, DWI, and persistent driving violations indicate disregard for law across multiple domains. Recent weapon offense in courthouse (2025) while under supervision for murder suggests ongoing danger and contempt for legal system.

10. Agent Aware Threat Level

Risk Factor	Detail	Level
Criminal History	2nd degree murder conviction, major drug possession, weapon in courthouse, fleeing police	⊖
Financial Stability	Bankruptcy (2014), civil judgment ($11,840), eviction, no documented employment	⚠
Substance Involvement	Convicted of distributing controlled substances resulting in death, 20+ grams heroin/fentanyl possession, DWI	⊖
Weapon Access	Convicted of possessing dangerous weapon in courthouse (2025) while on probation	⊖
Evasion Behavior	Multiple aliases, overlapping addresses, fleeing police conviction, continued crimes during probation	⊖
Geographic Stability	Frequent address changes, multiple overlapping residences, transitional housing pattern	⚠
Support Network	Close relationship with mother (shared residence), brother in Indiana, husband in Columbus	✓

⊖ Subject presents extreme threat level due to violent criminal history and ongoing pattern of serious offenses while under court supervision. Murder conviction for drug distribution resulting in death demonstrates capacity for lethal harm. Subsequent convictions for major drug possession (20+ grams), fleeing police, and bringing weapon into courthouse while on probation for murder indicate complete disregard for legal consequences and active danger to public safety. Pattern of escalating violence from theft to homicide combined with continued weapons access and substance involvement creates high-risk profile. Subject currently under multiple concurrent probation terms (murder, drugs, weapon offense) totaling 13+ years supervision. Evasion behaviors including multiple aliases, overlapping addresses, and fleeing police suggest flight risk. No documented employment despite sustained phone service and housing indicates possible unreported income from illegal activity. Strong family support network may provide resources for evasion or continued criminal enterprise.

12. Final Thoughts

➡ Subject represents extreme public safety risk with unresolved questions demanding immediate investigative attention. Primary concern: How is subject accessing weapons despite felony convictions and active probation? Courthouse weapon offense (2025) while under supervision for murder indicates brazen disregard for security protocols and suggests continued weapons access. Second priority: What is subject's current income source? No documented employment yet maintains multiple phone lines, housing, and vehicle access. Pattern suggests unreported income potentially from continued drug activity, given major possession conviction (20+ grams) in 2024. Third concern: Why multiple overlapping addresses during probation period? Strategic address usage may indicate evasion planning or compartmentalized criminal activity. Recommended actions: (1) Coordinate with Franklin County probation officer for compliance check and residence verification, (2) Conduct surveillance at mother's property (3914 Oakmont Dr) as primary family anchor point, (3) Monitor all six active phone numbers for pattern-of-life analysis, (4) Investigate husband Marcus Briggs for potential criminal involvement, (5) Request probation violation warrant based on continued criminal activity. Subject's escalation from theft to homicide combined with post-conviction weapons offense and major drug possession creates imminent danger scenario requiring immediate intervention.
